PART 2: GENERAL INFORMATION REGARDING THE COLLEGE

The College is a Years 7 to 12 Boarding School for boys, founded in 1893 and conducted by Edmund Rice Education Australia (EREA). The College's vision is "raising fine boys to the status of great men".

Edmund Rice Education Australia is a network of schools, entities and offices, offering a Catholic education in the tradition and spirit of Blessed Edmund Rice. Established by the Christian Brothers in 2007, Edmund Rice Education Australia governs the schools owned by the Christian Brothers at that time, as well as schools established since then. As a Public Juridic Person (PJP), Edmund Rice Education Australia has its own canonical and civil identity but remains closely connected to the Christian Brothers and their ongoing ministry.

As a Catholic school in the Edmund Rice tradition, the College proclaims the Charter for Catholic Schools in the Edmund Rice Tradition, which uses four Touchstones to describe the culture of an authentic Catholic school in the Edmund Rice Tradition. The Touchstones are:

- Liberating Education: We open hearts and minds, through quality teaching and learning experiences, so that through critical reflection and engagement each person is hope-filled and free to build a better world for all.
- Inclusive Community: Our community is accepting and welcoming, fostering right relationships and committed to the common good.
- Gospel Spirituality: We invite all people into the story of Jesus and strive to make his message of compassion, justice and peace a living reality within our community.
- Justice and Solidarity: We are committed to justice and peace for all, grounded in a spirituality of action and reflection that calls us to stand in solidarity with those who are marginalised and the Earth itself.

PART 3: STATEMENT OF PRINCIPLES REGARDING CATHOLIC EDUCATION

The Task of the Catholic School

Its task is fundamentally a synthesis of culture and faith, and a synthesis of faith and life: the first is reached by integrating all different aspects of human knowledge through the subject taught, in the light of the Gospel; the second in the growth of the virtues characteristic of the Christian.

(Congregation for Catholic Education, The Catholic School, 1977)

This same goal is expressed by the Victorian Catholic community which desires its schools to be communities of faith.

This broad philosophical stance reveals a concern for an education that combines sound knowledge and skills with an overall personal development rooted in Christian values. Such an education involves a high level of interpersonal transaction between staff and pupils.

Pope John Paul II spelt out key implications of this for staff who work in Catholic schools:

The Church looks upon you as co-workers with an important measure of shared responsibility ... To you it is given to create the future and give it direction by offering to your students a set of values with which to assess their newly discovered knowledge ... [The changing times] demand that educators be open to new cultural influences and interpret them for young pupils in the light of Christian faith. You are called to bring professional competence and a high standard of excellence to your teaching ... But your responsibilities make demands on you that go far beyond the need for professional skills and competence ... Through you, as through a clear window on a sunny day, students must come to see and know the richness and joy of a life lived in accordance with Christ's teaching, in response to his challenging demands. To teach means not only to impart what we know, but also to reveal who we are by living what we believe. It is this latter lesson which tends to last the longest.

(Pope John Paul II, Address to Catholic Educators, September 12, 1984)

Pope John Paul II clarified this further when he spoke on Catholic Education in Melbourne:

I welcome you into that chosen group called by the Church to educating young Catholics in the faith. In a very special way, you share in the Church's mission of proclaiming the good news of salvation. Not all of you may be teaching catechetics, but if you are on the staff of a Catholic school, it is expected, and it is of the utmost importance, that you should support the whole of the Church's teaching and bear witness to it in your daily lives ... Certainly your work demands professionalism, but it also demands something more. Your professionalism as teachers involves tasks that are linked to your Baptism and to your own commitment in faith ... No matter what subject you teach, it is part of your responsibility to lead your pupils more fully into the mystery of Christ and the living tradition of the Church ... The parish primary school, where younger children receive their early lessons in the faith, remains a cornerstone of the pastoral care of Australian Catholic people. Here the community of faith hands on the timely message of Jesus Christ to its youngest members ... More difficult challenges face the Catholic secondary school. Here students must be helped to achieve that integration of faith and authentic culture which is necessary for believers in today's world. But they must also be helped to recognise and reject false cultural values which are contrary to the Gospel.

(Pope John Paul II, Address to Catholic Education, November 28, 1986)

Pope Benedict stated when addressing Catholic educators in the United States of America in 2008:

Education is integral to the mission of the Church to proclaim the Good News. First and foremost every Catholic educational institution is a place to encounter the living God who in Jesus Christ reveals his transforming love and truth (cf. Spe Salvi, 4). This relationship elicits a desire to grow in the knowledge and understanding of Christ and his teaching. In this way those who meet him are drawn by the very power of the Gospel to lead a new life characterised by all that is beautiful, good, and true; a life of Christian witness nurtured and strengthened within the community of our Lord's disciples, the Church.

(Pope Benedict XVI, Address to Catholic Educators, April 17, 2008)

And in an address to Catholic teachers during his visit to England in 2010, His Holiness stated:

As you know, the task of a teacher is not simply to impart information or to provide training in skills intended to deliver some economic benefit to society; education is not and must never be considered as purely utilitarian. It is about forming the human person, equipping him or her to live life to the full – in short it is about imparting wisdom.

It means that the life of faith needs to be the driving force behind every activity in the school, so that the Church's mission may be served effectively, and the young people may discover the joy of entering into Christ's "being for others".

(Pope Benedict XVI, Address to Catholic Teachers, September 17, 2010)

This philosophy of Catholic education, expressed in a growing number of documents and policy statements, guides the Catholic school in its functioning. Whilst it is accountable to the general community for the provision of quality education to young people, it is also accountable to the Church community for providing this within the context of the Gospel and its values as expressed in Catholic doctrine. The Catholic school is more than an educative institution: it is a key part of the Church, and an essential element in the Church's mission. So too staff in the Catholic school are more than employees – they minister in the name of the Church and of the Gospel.

All staff in the Catholic school have an indispensable role to play. It is expected of all staff employed in a Catholic school that they:

- (a) accept the Catholic educational philosophy of the school;
- (b) develop and maintain an adequate understanding of those aspects of Catholic teaching that touch upon their subject areas and other aspects of their work;
- (c) by their teaching and other work, and by personal example, strive to help students to understand, accept and appreciate Catholic teaching and values;
- (d) avoid, whether by word, action or public lifestyle, influence upon students that is contrary to the teaching and values of the Church community in whose name they act;
- (e) in relation to teachers, comply with the Accreditation Policy of the Catholic Education Commission of Victoria (CECV) to teach in a Catholic school, and other CECV policies, and uphold the professional standards expected of a teacher;
- (f) be committed to regular ongoing professional development;
- (g) be qualified as required by state authorities;
- (h) be a person suitable to work with children.

PART 4: CHILD SAFE INFORMATION

The College holds the care, safety and wellbeing of children and young people as a central and fundamental responsibility. Central to the mission of the College is an unequivocal commitment to fostering the dignity, self-esteem and integrity of children and young people and providing them with a safe, supportive and enriching environment to develop spiritually, physically, intellectually, emotionally and socially.

The College's expectations in relation to child safety are contained in:

- the EREA Commitment Statement to Child Safety, endorsed by the College and available here
- the College's Child Safe Policy, incorporating the Child Safe Code of Conduct, available here
- the PROTECT resources, endorsed by the College and available here

The College's child safety material complements the EREA Code of Conduct which details, clarifies and affirms the standards of behaviour expected for members of the Edmund Rice Education Australia community, including members of the College community. The Edmund Rice Education Australia Code of Conduct is available here.

PART 5: EMPLOYEE COLLECTION NOTICE

1. In applying for this position you will be providing the College with personal information.
2. If you provide us with personal information, for example, your name and address or information contained on your resume, we will collect the information in order to assess your application for employment. We may keep this information on file if your application is unsuccessful in case another position becomes available.
3. The College's Privacy Policy is accessible via the College website, or by request from the College office. The policy contains details of how you may complain about a breach of the Australian Privacy Principles (APPs) or how you may seek access to personal information collected about you. However, there may be occasions when access is denied. Such occasions would include where access would have an unreasonable impact on the privacy of others.
4. We may use and disclose personal and sensitive information that we collect for administrative, educational and support purposes. This may include use and disclosure of your personal information to the Catholic Education Commission of Victoria (CECV), Catholic Education Offices, and support vendors (including specifically, TechOne, Synergetic Management Systems and SIMON) that provide services around staff administration systems, but will not disclose this information to other third parties without your consent.
5. We are required to collect information under Victorian Child Protection laws. Employees who are not registered teachers are required to have a current and valid Working with Children Check (WWCC), and a National Criminal History Record Check. We may also collect other personal information about you in accordance with these laws.
6. Where personal and sensitive information is retained by the CECV by a cloud service provider to facilitate human resources and staff administrative support, this information will be stored on servers within Australia. This includes the Integrated Catholic Online System (ICON). Current best practice cyber security measures will be employed to protect this personal and sensitive information from unauthorised access, modification, use and disclosure.
7. We may store and disclose personal information to overseas recipients, through the usage of Cloud Computing Storage or similar services. The College discloses such information in accordance with APP 8.
8. If you provide us with the personal information of others, we encourage you to inform them that you are disclosing that information to the College and why, that they can access that information if they wish and that the College does not usually disclose the information to third parties.
9. If you are employed by the College, the personal information that we collect about you will become part of your employee record and will be handled in accordance with the law and clause 6 of this notice.
10. Staff information is exempt from the Privacy Act 1988. Other requirements (ie. staff contracts, other school policies) may contain confidentiality clauses or other restrictions on the entities that staff information can be disclosed to.
